How to recognize EU Quality Schemes?

---

PDO – Protected Designation of Origin

PGI – Protected Geographical Indication

PDO and PGI wines are considered to be high-quality product, produced in accordance with national and European regulations

The EU Geographical indications system protects the names of products that originate from specific regions and have specific qualities or enjoy a reputation linked to the production territory.

QUALITY AND WARRANTY STAMPS

Which does a PDO / PGI guarantee?

If you see PDO and PGI labels on any food, beverage or agricultural products, it means that you can be at ease with the quality of their products.

It means that the product you buy is subject to strict European production quality control, and it means that the product is an excellent quality guarantee.

And it has safety, traceability, authenticity, animal-friendliness, label and nutrition protection, and has its characteristics of quality, taste, tradition and diversity.

European Wine Law

- The EU has 27 member countries, all of which produce wine
- 70% of world's wine produced within the EU
- In order to ensure consistency and quality of wine produced, the EU outlines production regulations and quality tiers:
  - PGI (Protected Geographical Indication)
  - PDO (Protected Designation of Origin (PDO))
- PGI and PDO are the basis for individual countries' wine classifications:
  - For example: Spain's DO system is equivalent to Italy's DOC system and France's AOC system; all three fall under the EU PDO category
